Garden Checklist

By California Association of Nurserymen

- Rumpled growth and buds that "blast" and never open properly are usually a sure sign of thrips in roses. Use a spray that is recommended for the critters.
- It's not too late for that first feeding of camellias, azaleas and other acid-loving plants, but time's a wasting. Use the special acid-type fertilizers that are available at our C.A.N. nursery.
- Keep an eye to Tuberous Begonias for the first sign of mildew as June advances. If it shows up, use a spray that's especially prepared for begonias.
- Bedding plants for late summer color should go in now. Zinnias top the list, but don't plant them unless you give them a warm, sunny location.
- Mulch around moisture-loving plants with peat or steer manure. Don't skimp. Put a layer two to three inches thick around each shrub to conserve moisture in dry summer weather.
